

A complete guide to the frogs of Southern Africa

About the authors

LOUIS DU PREEZ is a professor of zoology at North-West University and holds a PhD in amphibian parasitology. He heads the African Amphibian Conservation Research Group. His research interest focuses on amphibians, including their conservation, parasites and diseases, subjects on which he publishes regularly. His books include Field Guide and Key to the Frogs and Toads of the Free State; Field Guide to the Frogs and Toads of the Vredefort Dome World Heritage Site and Bios; An integrated Approach to Life-Science Teaching and Learning.

VINCENT CARRUTHERS is a company director, author and environmental consultant. He is a registered professional scientist specialising in amphibians and wetlands, and an amateur historian. He works with several universities and overseas institutions and has published books and articles on wildlife, history and natural science, including The Magaliesberg, The Wildlife of Southern Africa, South African Frogs, A Complete Guide (co-authored with Neville Passmore) and Frogs and Frogging in Southern Africa.